Welcome Note

Dear Colleagues,

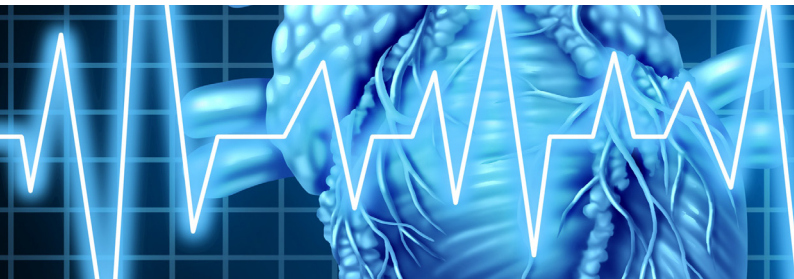

It gives us great pleasure to announce the launch of Gulf Arrhythmia Congress, the official scientific sessions of the Saudi Heart Rhythm Society (SHRS) and Gulf Heart Rhythm Society (GHRM). The Gulf Arrhythmia Congress (GAC) is the result of the aligned visions of the two professional societies to organize a state-of-the-science meeting in the Gulf and wider region highlighting the latest developments in the field of arrhythmia and cardiac electrophysiology.

The inaugural GAC sessions will be held in Dubai, United Arab Emirates from January 21st to 23rd, 2016. It will be the official meeting of the SHRS and GHRM and will target electrophysiologists and other professionals associated with the management of cardiac arrhythmias. We are determined to grow this meeting into the flagship arrhythmia congress in the Middle East, Turkey and Africa (META) region. The congress will be endorsed by regional societies including the Saudi Heart Association, Gulf Heart Association and Emirates Cardiac Society. A distinguished panel of leading electrophysiologists in the region will be assembled to steer the organization of the congress and the development of its scientific program.

We are confident that the success of such an event is contingent upon a strong partnership with our colleagues and therefore look forward to your participation in what is to be the most successful educational and professional congress in the field of electrophysiology in our region.
